DESTRUCTIVE FIRE. A fire broke out on Tuesday night on South Marlost street, between Spring and Broad, in the block of two story buildings owned by Jons M. Hnt., and extending to the three story block also owned by Mr. Hun. The first block was entirely destroyed. It consisted of four business houses, occupied by Dr. Janes as a drug store; by Mr. Waggoner, as 134 a jeweller's shop; by Mr. Luski, as a clothing store; and by Stewart & Owen as a tinning establishment. The building was worth about $13,000, was entirely destroyed, and was insured for $7,000 in the Tennesses Marine and Fire Insurance Company. We did not learn the amount of losses, or the insurance, if any, of property by the occupants | Garvin 59.

The three story block was but partially burnt .-Two of the tenements of which it was composed were compled by J. J. Brand as a boarding house; and it was this portion only which was damaged .-This block was injured from $2,000 to $3,000, fuliv covered by insurance in the American office, of

The fire originated in the drug store of Mr. Janea, wand unquestionably by carelessness on his part by handling gun powder or camphene. He washadly injured, and can furnish no explanation of the priots of the fire

WITCHESTER AND ALABAMA RAILROAD.

The Agent of this road, W. N. Bilbo, Esq., has at last succeeded in obtaining in Franklin county its proportion of the funds necessary for the completion of this road. Franklin county, for her ponulation and resources, contributed more than any other county for the construction of the Nashville and Chattanaoga railroad, and it has strained every nerve to raise its quota for the Winchester and Alabama road.

The Winchester and Alabama railroad commends its importance to our citizens from various consideration. It opens the interior of Alabama to Mobile, and by branches tapping the main trunk, the We tern partions of Georgia, and the Eastern portion of Mississippi, to the stock and grain producers of our State. For its extension intersects the Marapha and Charleston railroad ten miles to m Huntsville, and at Gunter's Landing meets with the Mobile, Seima and Tennessee railroad.—It is of infinite importance to our Grocery Meris an Huntsville and at teamer's Landing meets with the Mobile, Selma and Tennessee railroad.—
It is of infinite importance to our Grocery Merchant who already partially supply this portion of the South with groceries. Nashville will soon become as she're now in part, the exporter of the cotton of Jackson and Madison, and partially of other counties of North Alabama. The completion of this road pure Nashville 120 miles nearer Huntsville by railroad than Memphis. Hence the great partially manifested by the citizens of Huntsville.

They have already raised money enough to grade and timber that portion of the road to the intersection, and the entire Selma, Mobile, and Tennessee railroad is in a state of construction,-Besides, all the funds necessary for the completion of the Memphis and Charleston railroad have been raised. Thus we see the importance of the immediate construction of the Winchester and Alabama radroad to the citizens of Nashville and the farmers of Middle Tennessee. It is the most direct route to Mobile and New Orleans, and gives our farmers an advantage in market over those of East Tennese and Kentucky, being some 150 miles nearer.

This road also commends itself to our citizens from the following facts; ninety-five miles from Nashville commence the coal fields of the Cumberland mountains. They approach this road within from three to five miles and extend parallel with it for a distance of twelve miles. The coal is fine and the stram are from three to five feet. Those of our knowledge belong to the Keiths, Whartons, Stovals, Francis and Lytles. The marble quarries, are of the beautiful variegate, such as decorated our Capitol, and the black and gray. They approach without two miles of the road near Salem-commenting at the Cotton Factory of Hunt & Mann. and extend for six unles along the road. There are torests of poplar, white oak, cedar, black walnot and cherry, indispensable to our furniture, engine, car, and steamboat manufacturers and builders. Vast deposites of iron are approached upon the lands owned by L. Mathews, within a quarter of a mile of the road, and miners have discovered in aeveral portions of Franklin county, the outrops or bloomers of Copper. Our informant saw several specimens tested. The most valuable are those owned and analyzed by Newman & Shook. Jashville must be the great market for the comimption and exportation of these valuable minerals.
